FITTING THE PUZZLE PIECES TOGETHER

The third positive quality in helping the church restore her soul is that of wholeness. Kent Groff says this:

“Ministry in an overspecialized world gets complicated. The soul of ministry is about healing personal and social fragmentation, finding simplicity in complexity. It is about defragmenting, as when my computer reunifies scattered information” (The Soul of Tomorrow’s Church, page 28).

At the core of Groff’s observation is the power of healing and restoration. Moving toward simplicity is the effectiveness and faithfulness of ministry in all of its expressions. When the church sees herself as the community of the integrated, then healing and wholeness occurs. Here is what this practically means for the heart and soul of the church.

- Members and ministries are not in competition for time and resources
- Loving God and loving neighbor is the foundation of all service
- Decisions are not arbitrary, rather participatory
- Atmosphere and morale are indicators of the congregation’s health
- All diversities of ministry complete the overall picture
- No one person has to do it all
- Meaningful involvement of every person is the goal
- Ministry is rooted in calling and responding to God’s calling

No doubt you can think of other practical implications of the church being aware of her soul, along with the simplicity of loving and serving. My mother-in-law gave me a puzzle that had the picture of a train on railroad tracks. It is now hanging in a frame. All of the pieces are integrated into a complete picture that is amazing.

We are all pieces of the puzzle, working for the same Lord, with the same zeal and calling. Integrity, passion and wholeness are the three positive qualities that define a group of Christians serious about embodying our risen Lord in the present time. Ministry does not have to be overspecialized and complex. With the power of God’s Spirit we are all about healing, integration and wholeness! May God be glorified in that process.

In Christian love, Curtis

NEIL’S NOTES

PURA VIDA AT THE MOVIES

This Sunday, Pura Vida will be at the Movies. Kevin and Teresa Reaves will be chaperoning this event. Details about the movie, time and location will be in this Sunday’s handout.

UPPER ROOM CAFE

I will have the Upper Room open starting this Thursday from 4:00 to 6:00 P.M. This will give our teens a place to hang out with each other and their friends. I will also have a place set aside for homework and homework help.

ICE BEARS

We are going to see the Ice Bears this month on January 28th. The cost is only $4. Please sign up on the bulletin board by January 17th if you would like to go.

SERVICES AT NHC

Highland View will be leading the Sunday morning services at NHC for the month of January. Please come before 9:30am to help the residents into the meeting room. All are welcome. We will return to the church building in time for the worship service at 10:30am.

LUGGAGE NEEDED

If you have any luggage that you can give away, the children at the Tennessee Children’s Home can use it for when they move. Instead of putting belongings in bags and other containers, it would be nice for these children to have their own luggage. If you can help with a donation of luggage, please leave it in the front foyer of the Highland View church building. Eiko Travaglini and Esther Lancaster will be collecting them and making sure that they get to the Children’s Home. If you have any questions, please contact Eiko or Esther. Thank you in advance for your generous donation.

Happy Birthday!

SPECIAL PRAYER REQUESTS

for Ladies of the
ANDERSON COUNTY DETENTION FACILITY

Please pray for the following requests:

For the women in the facility as Satan is running ramped again. Pray that God will lead him out of there.

ALPHA HOUSE

There are three men from Highland View, Tim Oldham, Anthony Wooten and David Morgan, that will be playing in the basketball game against the Harlem Ambassadors at the Oak Ridge High School gym on Wednesday, February 3rd at 8pm. This game will benefit the Alpha House. Each player must have $220 worth of sponsors in order to be able to participate in the game. If you can sponsor any amount, it would be appreciated and all donations are tax deductible. The sponsor forms are in the front foyer. There is still a need for more players, male or female, and if interested, contact Loretta Rollins. Tickets are on sale for $10 from the Christian Book Store in Oak Ridge or Loretta Rollins before February 3rd. They will be $15 at the door.

We encourage everyone to come and listen to Mike Travaglini speak in the Winter Speaker Series at 6:30pm and then join us across the street at the ballgame at 8:00pm for fun and entertainment. On another note, any donations of Propel bottled water or canned drinks will be greatly appreciated. Please put your drink donations in the containers marked "Alpha House" that will be in both foyers.

Prayer Requests:

Contact Debbie at 483-7471 with requests and updates.
